A Democratic New York lawyer filed a wrongful death suit on Wednesday on behalf of the parents of a New York City man who died after a police officer sprayed him with a chemical irritant and wounded an 18-year-old suspect. The suit filed in state Supreme Court in Brooklyn names the city and Police Officer Rafael Ramos. The officer was sentenced last month to eight years in prison for criminally negligent homicide in the death of 28-year-old Amadou Diallo on Feb. 3, 1999. The complaint does not accuse Ramos of a specific racial or ethnic bias. It says he shot Diallo without provocation and with reckless disregard for his life. The suit, by attorney Jennifer McNeil, seeks unspecified damages for the parents of 18-year-old suspect Patrick Dorismond, who was shot and killed by a police officer outside an apartment on South Oxford Street in the Bronx on Feb. 1, 1999.
